The war has begun.

You probably came home today, expecting a relaxing, kid-free evening. But you failed to account for the fact that your husband is a twelve-year-old trapped in a man's body.

That miscalculation is about to cost you dearly.

Your only hope of survival is to watch the first (of two videos) left for you on your iPad. (NOTE that you should NOT watch the second video until after the first video.)

Once you have watched both videos, open the second, smaller envelope enclosed with this letter.

Good luck.

You're going to need it. (Insert evil laugh.)
